Today's lesson

Exodus 14:5-7, 10-14, 21-29

Rescue at Sea

The people of Israel had become slaves in Egypt. God sent Moses to convince the Pharaoh to let them go. It took terrible plagues before the Pharaoh agreed. However, once the Israelites started to leave, Pharaoh changed his mind and sent his army to bring them back. The Israelites were panicking but Moses told them to trust God to keep them safe. God then parted the Red Sea and allowed the Israelites to safely cross and the Egyptians drowned.

Taking the lesson home

Conversation starters:

- Who led the people out of Egypt?
- How do you think you would have felt if you were an Israelite and you looked up to see Pharaoh's army on one side of you and the sea on the other?
- What do you think the Israelites might have been thinking as they walked through the sea?
- Do you think it would have been hard for the Israelites to trust God? Why or why not?
- How are we like the Israelites?
- When was a time it was hard for you to trust God?

Jell-O Jigglers "Walls of Water" (...with optional fish!)

- Using Very Berry Jell-O (or some other variety of blue gelatin) make "Jigglers" according to the directions on the box.
 - Four 3 ounce boxes dissolved in 2 ½ cups of boiling water
 - Do NOT add the cold water (as with regular Jell-O.)
 - Place the mixture in a shallow pan, so that the liquid is at least ½ to 1 inch deep. (Use an 8x8 baking dish to make the Jigglers thicker.)
 - OPTIONAL: Add Fruit Snack shaped like fish, after it cools a few minutes.
- Allow Jigglers to cool in the refrigerator.
- Cut Jigglers into small squares. (Try to get some of the fish in the squares.)
- At Snack Time - Serve Jigglers on a white paper plate to the children. Allow them to stack up the Jigglers to make "walls" of water on their plates.
